CERTIFICATE COURSES—→ BIRTIKENDRAJIT UNIVERSITY

CERTIFICATE IN CARETAKER BIRTIKENRAJIT UNIVERSITY

Caretaker certification is a kind of training that teaches people how to take care of sick, old, or disabled individuals. This training helps them understand what these people need and how to help them properly. The certification programs usually teach about things like food, cleanliness, safety, first aid, talking skills, and the laws about caregiving. Getting certified as a caretaker also makes people feel proud and shows they're skilled at giving good care. Moreover, caretaker certification programs might provide extra certifications focused on specific areas like taking care of people with dementia or offering support near the end of life. These special certifications can be helpful for people who want to focus on certain parts of caregiving or want to learn more about specific subjects.

OBJECTIVES

- Develop Expertise: Equip participants with a deep understanding of caregiving techniques, medical knowledge, and practical skills.
- Ensure Safety: Teach proper techniques for handling and assisting individuals while prioritizing their safety and well-being.
- Improve Communication: Enhance communication skills to establish rapport and effectively communicate with both patients and their families.

- Provide Medical Aid: Teach basic first aid, medication management, and emergency response protocols.
- Offer Specialized Training: Provide optional training in areas like dementia care, end-of-life support, and specific medical conditions

CERTIFICATE IN CAREGIVER BIRTIKENRAJIT UNIVERSITY

The idea of providing care and creating a group of caregivers is important for our country. With more and more people becoming chronically ill, elderly, or having disabilities, we need trained caregivers to help them. The world becoming more connected and modern has led to issues like ageing problems, injuries from disasters, mental stress disorders, and a lack of trained medical professionals. Because of these situations, the RCI, a registered organization, has decided to tackle the need for caregiving. They want to ensure that families, communities, and institutions can all give proper care and rehabilitation to those in need.

OBJECTIVES

- Skill Development: Equip participants with practical caregiving skills, including proper techniques for assisting with daily activities, managing medications, and ensuring a safe environment for those under their care.
- Empathy and Communication: Enhance participants' empathy and communication skills, enabling them to connect emotionally with care recipients, understand their needs, and provide comfort and companionship.
- Medical Knowledge: Provide foundational medical knowledge, such as understanding common health conditions, recognizing signs of distress, and knowing how to respond appropriately in emergencies.
- Ethical and Legal Awareness: Educate caregivers about ethical considerations, confidentiality, and legal responsibilities, ensuring they provide care within the boundaries of the law and uphold the dignity and rights of those they care for.

DIPLOMA IN CARETAKER

THE CENTRAL INSTITUTE OF VOCATIONAL TRAINING

Caretaker certification is a kind of training that teaches people how to take care of sick, old, or disabled individuals. This training helps them understand what these people need and how to help them properly. The certification programs usually teach about things like food, cleanliness, safety, first aid, talking skills, and the laws about caregiving. Getting certified as a caretaker also makes people feel proud and shows they're skilled at giving good care. Moreover, caretaker certification programs might provide extra certifications focused on specific areas like taking care of people with dementia or offering support near the end of life. These special certifications can be helpful for people who want to focus on certain parts of caregiving or want to learn more about specific subjects.

OBJECTIVES

- Develop Expertise: Equip participants with a deep understanding of caregiving techniques, medical knowledge, and practical skills.
- Ensure Safety: Teach proper techniques for handling and assisting individuals while prioritizing their safety and well-being.
- Improve Communication: Enhance communication skills to establish rapport and effectively communicate with both patients and their families.
- Provide Medical Aid: Teach basic first aid, medication management, and emergency response protocols.
- Offer Specialized Training: Provide optional training in areas like dementia care, end-of-life support, and specific medical conditions.

DIPLOMA IN CAREGIVER

THE CENTRAL INSTITUTE OF VOCATIONAL TRAINING

The idea of providing care and creating a group of caregivers is important for our country. With more and more people becoming chronically ill, elderly, or having disabilities, we need trained caregivers to help them. The world becoming more connected and modern has led to issues like ageing problems, injuries from disasters, mental stress disorders, and a lack of trained medical professionals. Because of these situations, the RCI, a registered organization, has decided to tackle the need for caregiving. They want to ensure that families, communities, and institutions can all give proper care and rehabilitation to those in need.

OBJECTIVES

- Skill Development: Equip participants with practical caregiving skills, including proper techniques for assisting with daily activities, managing medications, and ensuring a safe environment for those under their care.
- Empathy and Communication: Enhance participants' empathy and communication skills, enabling them to connect emotionally with care recipients, understand their needs, and provide comfort and companionship.
- Medical Knowledge: Provide foundational medical knowledge, such as understanding common health conditions, recognizing signs of distress, and knowing how to respond appropriately in emergencies.
- Ethical and Legal Awareness: Educate caregivers about ethical considerations, confidentiality, and legal responsibilities, ensuring they provide care within the boundaries of the law and uphold the dignity and rights of those they care for.

DIPLOMA IN HOME MAID COURSE

THE CENTRAL INSTITUTE OF VOCATIONAL TRAINING

Housekeeping courses provide both theory and hands-on training in different aspects of maintaining a clean and comfortable environment. These aspects include everything needed to keep the place where a person works clean and cosy. To get into this course, students are chosen based on their academic performance and sometimes through an entrance test. Some institutions might also conduct an interview before admitting students. The main subjects covered in a housekeeping course include Housekeeping Procedures, Lighting and Color Coordination, Arranging Room Layouts, Hotel Management, and the Science of Cleaning.

OBJECTIVES

- Domestic Skills Mastery: Equip participants with essential domestic skills, including cleaning, organizing, laundry, and basic home maintenance, enabling them to effectively manage household tasks.
- Time Management: Teach effective time management techniques to balance various household responsibilities, ensuring a smooth and efficient daily routine.
- Hospitality and Guest Management: Train participants in providing a welcoming and hospitable environment for guests, including meal preparation, etiquette, and gracious hosting.
- Personal Development: Enhance participants' confidence and self-reliance by empowering them with the ability to efficiently handle domestic responsibilities, contributing to their personal growth and sense of accomplishment.
